INCLUSION PROGRAM

Supporting diversity within our communities and the sports we love.

The Calgary Flames Foundation is proud to announce a transformative $2 million extension of the CSEC Inclusion Program, reinforcing its long-term commitment to advancing diversity, equity, and inclusion in sport.

Launched in August 2021 as a $2 million, four-year initiative, the Inclusion Program focuses on four key areas: adapted sport, girls and women in sport, visible minorities, and the LGBTQ+ community. Since its inception, the Inclusion Program has now distributed more than $2 million to Southern Alberta organizations, creating opportunities for underrepresented groups to experience and thrive in sport.

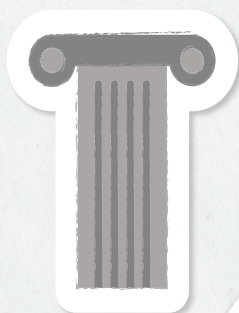

Through this ongoing investment, the CSEC Inclusion Program has directly impacted over 10,000 youth, helping to remove barriers, increase accessibility, and support inclusive environments across Calgary and southern Alberta. The program has funded new initiatives, strengthened existing programs, and built partnerships that harness the power of sport to foster belonging, confidence, and community. The additional $2 million commitment extends this work through 2029, ensuring lasting impact for years to come.
